Commissioner For Patents,

I am requesting a "Petition to Revive" my Application # 10/710,546. I never received the Office Action sent out in March of 2006. I applied for a patent in July 2004. Over the next 19 months I was consistently told that nothing new happened to my application and that I needed to be patient because there was a huge backlog of applications being considered. I was told that I would be contacted as soon as my application was assigned to an examiner but this is taking an unusually long time. So I waited, and continued to wait, patiently.

On September 25, 2006, Steve Pollicoff called and said he was an examiner making follow-up calls to all the applicants that did not reply to an "office action" sent out. Steve explained that mine was sent in March 2006. I never received any information on my application. I would have immediately responded to any information, since I have waited so long for it. It wasn't until Steve called in September that I knew my application was finally opened, and yet closed without me knowing it.

On October 10, 2006 I finally received a copy of my Office Action, attached was a Notice of Abandonment. I have put a lot of work, time and money into this application #10/710,546 and I have no intentions of abandoning it. I look forward to being able to finish what I started over 2 years ago. Please give me the chance to do so.

Please revive FINALLY, I have information on my application and I can't wait to continue this process. Thank you for your consideration.

All statements made herein of my knowledge are true, all statements made herein on information and belief are believed to be true, and further that these statements were made with the knowledge that willful false statements and the like are punishable by fine or imprisonment, or both, under 18 U.S.C. 1001, and my jeopardize the validity of the application or any patent issuing thereon.

Best regards,
